

Non-Core Vocabulary in Ovid's Amores, Poem 3 adulter -erī m.: adulterer arātrum -ī n: plough

cantō -āre: sing

commendō -āre: commit, commend, recommend

Cytherēa -ae f.: Venus dēserviō -servīre: serve, be devoted to (+dat.) dēsultor -ōris m.: circus rider exterritus -a -um: badly frightened filum -ī n.: thread, string flūmineus -a -um: of a river innumerus -a -um: countless

Īō: Io, the daughter of Inachus iuvencus -ī m.: young bull, bullock lūdō lūdere lūsī lūsum: play, mock māteriēs māteriēī f.: matter, material novem: (indecl.) nine nūper: (adv.) not long ago, lately parcus -a -um: thrifty, frugal perennis -e: continual, perpetual

Phoebus -ī m.: Apollo praedor -ārī: plunder, rob prōveniō -venīre -vēnī -ventūrum: come forth; come about purpureus -a -um: purple pūrus -a -um: clean, pure, innocent renovō -āre: restore, refresh, renew repertor -ōris m.: discoverer, inventor simplicitās -ātis f.: simplicity; lack of sophistication, ignorance simulō -āre: pretend; produce, simulate, feign temperō -āre: set bounds, control, regulate vārus -a -um: crooked, bent; diverse, different virgineus -a -um: maidenly, of a virgin