

Non-Core Vocabulary in Ovid's Amores, Poem 15

Accius -iī m.: Accius adedō -ere -ēdī -ēsum: consume Aenēius -a -um: of Aeneas Aesonius -a -um: of or descended from Aeson animōsus -a -um: bold, spirited Apollō -inis m.: Apollo arātrum -ī n: plough Arātus -ī m.: Aratus arcus arcūs m.: bow; arch, arc Ascraeus -a -um: belonging to Ascra aurifer -era -erum: gold-bearing Battiadēs -ae m.: descendent of Battus (the founder of Cyrene) benignus -a -um: kind, generous blandus -a -um: flattering, caressing cantō -āre: sing Castalius -a -um: Castalian Cerēs -eris f.: wheat cothurnus -ī m.: buskin cultus -a -um: elegant, polished, sophisticated; cultivated Cupīdō -inis m.: Cupid dēns -ntis m.: tooth dēpereō -perīre -perīī: destroy completely edāx -ācis: voracious, greedy ēdisco -discere -didicī: learn thoroughly, study Ennius -iī m.: Ennius Ēōus -a -um: of the east, of the dawn exitium -ī n.: going out; destruction, death fallax -ācis: deceitful, treacherous, false fālx -cis f.: scythe, sickle flāvus -a -um: golden; fair-haired, blonde frīgus -oris n.: cold, coldness frux -ūgis f.: crops, fruits, grain Gallus -a -um: Gallus Hesperius -a -um: of the west, western iactūra -ae f.: loss (of stature/prestige) Īdē -ēs f.: Mount Ida ignāvus -a -um: lazy, idle improbus -a -um: inferior, bad; shameless incurvus -a -um: bent, curved iners -tis: crude, lacking skill; lazy, idle lēna -ae f.: brothel-keeper, procuress līvor -ōris m.: envy Lucretīus -īī m.: Lucretius Lycōris -īdis f.: Lycoris Maeonidēs -ae m.: Homer Menandros -drī m.: Menander meretrix meretricis f.: prostitute mīlitia -ae f.: military service, warfare ministrō -āre: serve, attend to, take care of mustum -ī n.: must myrtus -ī m./f.: myrtle obiciō -icere -iēcī -iectum: throw in the way, reproach; charge, accuse pascor -ī: feed, nourish patiens -ntis: long-suffering, patient; hardy perennis -e: continual, perpetual poculum -ī n.: drinking-cup, goblet prostituō -stituere -stituī -stitūtum: prostitute pulverulentus -a- um: covered with dust, dusty rapidus -a -um: swift, tearing ratis -is f.: ship

resecō -secāre -secuī -sectum: cut, cut back

Rōma -ae f.: Rome

silex -icis m.: flint; any hard stone

Simoīs -oentis m.: a small river near Troy, flowing into the Scamander sollicitus -a -um: troubled

Sophoclēus -a -um: Sophoclean, of Sophocles strēnuus -a -um: brisk, prompt, vigorous sublīmis -e: lofty, elevated superstes -itis: surviving, remaining alive after death suprēmus -a -um: highest, uppermost; final

Tagus -ī m.: the river Tagus (in Lusitania) produced much gold and provided Rome with great wealth

Tenedos -ī f.: Tenedos

Tibullus -ī m.: Tibullus

Tītyrus -ī m.: one of the shepherds in Virgil's Eclogues and actually the first word of Eclogue 1

triumphō -āre: triumph, have a triumph triumphus -ī m.: triumph, triumphal procession tueor tuērī tūtus sum: look at, behold; watch over, protect tumeō tumēre tumuī: swell, puff up ūva -ae f.: grape

Varrō -ōnis m.: Varro verbōsus -a -um: wordy, verbose vīlis -e: cheap, worthless; contemptible; of inferior rank vīvus -a -um: alive, living volvō volvere volvī volūtum: roll, wind, twist round