

Non-Core Vocabulary in Ovid's Amores, Poem 8 acervus -ī m.: heap, pile admittō -mittere -mīsī -missum: send in; let in, allow

Aenēās -ae m.: Aeneas amātor -ōris m.: lover ancilla -ae f.: female slave anīlis -e: old woman anus -ūs f.: old woman, hag; sorceress arcus arcūs m.: bow; arch, arc arguō arguere arguī argūtum: accuse, charge; reveal, prove atavus -ī m.: grandfather ātrium -ī n.: atrium avus -ī m.: grandfather, forefather blandior blandīrī blandītus sum: (+dat.) flatter, charm cānescō -ere: become white or hoary; become old carpō carpere carpsī carptum: pluck, harvest, despoil, fleece cēra -ae f.: wax portrait bust circum: around (adv. and prep. +acc.) collum -ī n.: neck commodō -āre: adapt, accommodate; lend, provide concitō -āre: stir up, excite consonus -a -um: harmonious contrārius -a -um: opposite, opposed corneus -a -um: made of horn cubō cubāre cubuī cubitum: lie down, recline cultus -a -um: elegant, polished, sophisticated; cultivated dēcipiō -cipere -cēpī -ceptum: catch; cheat, deceive dēfungor -fungī -functus sum: perform, discharge, finish; die dēiciō -icere -iēcī -iectum: cast down dēspiciō -dpicere -spexī -spectum: look down on; be contemptuous of dipsas -adis f.: Dipsas; a kind of serpent whose bite causes violent thirst distrahō -trahere -traxī -tractum: pull apart, tear to pieces duplex -icis: double, folded; deceitful, duplicitous dūro -āre: last, endure; harden ēloquium -ī n.: eloquence emō emere ēmī emptum: buy, purchase ēn: lo! behold!

equa -ae f.: mare ērubescō -rubescere -rubuī: grow red, blush ēvocō -āre: call out, summon exclūdō -clūdere -clūsī -clūsum: shut out excutiō -cutere -cussī -cussum: shake out externus -a -um: external, outside; foreign fīlum -ī n.: thread, string findō findere fidī fissum: split apart flagītō -āre: ask for repeatedly foris foris f.: door formōsus -a -um: shapely, beautiful fulgeō fulgēre fulsī: shine brightly, flash fulminō -āre: flash like lightning geminus -a -um: twin, double gena -ae f.: cheek glomerō -āre: form into a ball; mass together grāmen -inis n.: herbs, especially magical ones grandis -e: great, large gremium -ī n.: lap, bosom grex -egis m.: herd, flock gypsātus -a -um: whitened with gypsum haereō haerēre haesī haesitum: stick, adhere here: (adv.) yesterday Homērus -ī m.: Homer iānua -ae f.: door, entrance immundus -a -um: unclean, foul impius -a -um: impious, wicked inānis -e: empty, void; foolish, trifling inaurātus -a -um: gilt ingeniōsus -a -um: talented, naturally clever inops -pis: without means; poor, destitute invidiōsus -a -um: envious, hateful Īsis -dis f.: Isis, an Egyptian goddess lābor lābī lāpsus sum: fall down, slip lacrimō -āre: weep, shed tears lacrimōsus -a -um: tearful Lār Laris m.: Lar, household god lascīvia -ae f.: playfulness; wantonness, licentiousness laxus -a -um: wide, loose, spacious lēna -ae f.: brothel-keeper, madam, procuress, go-between lībūm -ī: cake līcium -ī n.: thrum, end of a thread; a thread liquidus -a -um: clear, liquid līvidus -a -um: bluish; envious lūdō lūdere lūsī lūsum: sport amorously, be promiscuous lupa -ae f.: she-wolf, prostitute lūsus -ūs m.: play, game lyra -ae f.: lyre magus -a -um: magical Mārs Mārtis m.: Mars mel mellis n.: honey Memnōn -onis m.: Memnon mercēs mercēdis f.: price nātālis -is m.: a birthday nēve or neu: and not, nor, and that not, and lest nīteō nītēre nītuī: shine, sparkle nocturnus -a -um: by night, nocturnal nōnnumquam: (adv.) sometimes nota -ae f.: sign, secret writing nūbilum -ī n.: darkness; cloud nūtrix -īcis f.: nurse obsum -esse -fui: be a disadvantage occulō -culere -culuī -cultum: conceal occultē: (adv.) without being noticed ocellus -ī m.: a (little) eye oppositus -a -um: hostile, opposed palla -ae f.: cloak parcus -a -um: thrifty, frugal Pēnelopē -ēs f.: Penelope periūrō (pēierō) -āre: swear a false oath plūma -ae f.: feather, down plūs plūris: more postmodo: (adv.) later, presently praecipuē: (adv.) especially, particularly proavus -ī m.: great-grandfather; ancestor prodo prodere prodidi proditus: project, thrust forward; bring forth, produce, give birth to pudīcus -a -um: modest, chaste, virtuous pūpula -ae f.: the pupil (of the eye) purpureus -a -um: purple pūrus -a -um: clean, pure, innocent rapīna -ae f.: robbery, plundering, pillage recurvō -āre: bend back; curve backwards redimō -imere -ēmī -emptum: buy back; buy out of slavery rēgnō -āre: rule, reign; be in control relentescō -ere: slacken; become less ardent repellō repellere reppulī repulsum: drive back, repel rēte -tis n.: net, trap rhombus -ī m.: a wooden object which, when attached to a string and twirled in the air, produced a loud hissing sound, the volume of which depended on the force of the motion rīvālis -is m.: rival roseus -a -um: rosy rūga -ae f.: wrinkle rūgōsus -a -um: wrinkled rusticitās -ātis f.: lack of sophistication Sabīnus -a -um: Sabine senecta -ae f.: old age senescō senescere senuī: grow old, deteriorate simulō -āre: pretend; produce, simulate, feign simultās -ātis f.: a state of animosity, a feud sitis -is f.: thirst situs -ūs m.: site, position; neglect, disuse; rot, mold sōbrius -a -um: sober, moderate solidus -a -um: dense, firm, solid sollers -rtis: clever, skilled spatiōsus -a -um: wide, spacious, large spectābilis -e: visible, notable, remarkable stillō -āre: drip with stipula -ae f.: stubble surdus -a -um: deaf suspīcor -ārī: suspect, suppose Tatius -iī m.: Tatius temerō -āre: violate, desecrate, defile testificor -ārī: give proof of thalamus -ī m.: marriage bed; bedchamber torqueō torquēre torsī tortum: cause to rotate, spin tractō, tractāre: draw, drag, haul ūdus -a -um: wet, damp ūrō ūrere ussī ustum: burn vānescō -ere: disappear, vanish venēnum -ī n.: drug, venom; dye Venus -eris f.: Venus vertex -icis m.: a whirl, whirlwind; summit, top of the head vīrus -ī n.: bodily fluid, secretion vīvus -a -um: alive, living volātilis -e: able to fly, fleeting